TROUGH the speech we reproduced yesterday as having been delivered by President YUAN SHIH KAI at the inauguration of the Advisory Council in Peking on the 29th by their action in compelling the introult, lacks that precision of statement which duction of much-needed reforms, have renone expects to find in a speech dealing with | dered to China invaluable service, which the country's finances, it covers many will earn in years to come the gratitude matters which give it international interest. of large numbers of p triotic Chinese A few days before the delivery of this now living, who at the present time speech, Haung Har-Ling, the Minister of perhaps lack the knowledge and the fore-Finance, had explained the financial sight which would enable them to view the position of the country to a gathering of question in its proper light. Chinese journalists in Shanghai. We need hardly remark that these Budget statements mark a new departure in the history of the country, and now that the people are the sovereign power in the land. the national finances are being subjected to closer scrutiny than they have ever been before. It has always been a mystery to torily explain where he obtained five lbs. foreign investigators how past governments of sugar candy valued at $1 was yesterday at Peking have been able to "make ends | fined $5 or fourteen days' imprisonment. meet," for the published accounts of revenue, and expenditure have shown that the expenditure of the country has been invariably greatly in excess of the revenue. That this should be a feature of the present year's budget is not at all surprising. The President is reported as saying: "China's revenue last year was Tis. 260,000,000; yet there was a deficit." Comparing this revenue with that of other countries in the world it appears absurdly small for so extensive and populous a country as China. Several of the South American republics have revenues nearly as large.

But the chief point of interest at the present moment is, in the first place, the amount of the deficit, and next, the manner in which the Government propose to meet it. From is accompanied by other star artistes. the address of the President it is impossible to gather exactly what the amount of the deficit really is, but from the address of the Finance Minister to the Chinese journalists assembled at Shangbai we learn that the amount is approximately Tls 170,520,000 In addition to this, a sum of Tis. 110,000,000 needs to be provided, one-fifth of it to meet obligations on foreign loans in arrears from September, 1911, to February, 1912; the remainder to meet expenses incurred in connection with the military operations in the Bevolution. There is thus a total deficit amounting to Tls. 280,520,000. The Finance Minister explained to the journalists that this constituted a dangerous state affairs—as well it might—and that the only means of meeting the situation was (1) by increased taxation; (2) by a foreign loan; and (3) by issuing more paper currency. We gather that he concluded that only one of these three ways was open to the Government, and that was to raise a foreign loan. Then he expatiated on the difficulties in the way of raising the loan, explaining that security would have to be given, and as the people were opposed to pledging the revenue derived from taxaand grain, there was nothing to pledge but the reformed salt the Iwahig penal colony, Philippine monopoly and the salt gabelle. Then, the Islands, has been sentenced by the court lenders of foreign capital would demand the of first instance of Palawan to one year's employment of foreign financial advisers. and require the Government to show to their satisfaction how the money lent is employed. Public opinion, he went on to say, was divided. On the one hand, there is extreme opposition to foreign loans; on the other hand, there are those who would welcome foreign capital if employed in productive enterprises, and his duty was to effect a compromise, for indemnity payments, military expenses, etc., could not be further postponed without danger. The Minister unfolded his plans, which include | pete, and each firm will have the right to the establishment of State and private enter three machines with two pilots for banks to relieve the money market and assist | each. The China; the redemption of all paper currency in the provinces; a reorganisation of taxation; the increase of customs taxes; abolition of likin, and the institution of stamp duties; finally, to enforce economy in the public expenditures. Many of these recommendations were dwelt upon by the President in his speech to the Advisory Council. He advised improvement of the land regulations in order to he was the youngest flag officer in the lighten the burden of the people, proper surveys of laud, a new scale of taxation and reform of the currency into a unified system. under a small number of financial experts. and he suggested that foreign financiers should be employed in order to ensure a proper budget and correct accounting. He dwelt upon the importance of industrial development, recommended subsidizing industries, and the reform of the mining and commercial laws of the country. Here is a paragraph which needs explanation. It is taken from the Manchuria Daily News, and is in the form of n telegram dated April 20th from Hankow. Referring to the appointment of Admiral Sir Hedworth Meux, as Commanderin-Chief at Portsmouth a London paper remarks:-When he was made Admiral Service. Sir Hedworth has always been popular with his men, and is one of those officers who make "comfortable ships." There is a blithe story of the days when he commanded the Victoria and Albert. It was a broiling Sunday in August, and Captain Lambton read the service on the upper deck of the Royal yacht. He came to the Lord's Prayer, the men kneeling on the deck, with their caps off. In the very middle of the prayer, without a change of intonation or accent, he said to his men. "If anybody feels the sun, they may put their caps on."

DEATH OF CAPTAIN RAFFERTY.

Many in Hongkong and elsewhere in the Far East will regret to learn the news of the death of Captain J. Rafferty, a popular commander in the service of the Glen Line. Captain Rafferty was found dead in his cabin on the Glenesk, when the ship was a day from Port Said on the outward voyage. Death was due to heart failure. The body was brought on to Port Said and buried there. Captain Rafferty, who was about fifty years of age, and had been on the Eastern run many years, was well known in the Eastern ports, and greatly respected by all who knew him. Captain Rafferty was a married man, and

Mr. E. E. Williams, the chief officer, is now in command of the Glenesk.

THE REV. F. T. JOHNSON'S DEPARTURE.

PAREWELL ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.

Yesterday morning a number of ladies and gentlemen connected with St. John's Cathedral and others met. in the music room of the City Hall to bid farewell to the Rev. F. T. Johnson, who has been chaplain to St. John's Cathedral for over 13 years, and to present him with any the P. and O. Company and demanded address and a cheque for $1,590 subscribed. for by friends and well-wishers in the community.

The Hon. Mr. E. Osborne, who presided, said-Mr. Johnson, like all good men and true, you possess, I know, a natural antipathy to hearing your virtues extolled in public. "We, your friends here to-day, are going to inflict upon you the necessity of hearing us say how much we regret your departure from the Colony, how much we appreciate the good work that you have carried on during your thirteen years in Hongkong, how much we appreciate the sympathy and the kindness which you have extended to all those in distress, how very much we hope you will be restored to complete health and to live a long and happy life.

Mr. Osnorne then read the Address as follows:--

REV. F. T. JOHNSON, M.A. We, the undersigned, wish before your departure from this Colony on May 7th, 1912, when your resignation of the chaplaincy of St. John's Cathedral takes effect, to express our profound regret that after over 13 years of valued service your health should necessitate your leaving us. We hope that residence in a temperate climate will speedily restore you to health and strength, and that we shall soon hear of your appointment to a new sphere of labour where you will have full scope for the use of these qualities which have been so appreciated by the community in Hongkong. We wish to bear testimony to the conscientious, self-sacrificing work that you have done, and in saying farewell we beg you to accept the present which is accompanied by our heartiest good wishes for your future welfare."

He stood under a great disadvantage from his nationality. It was naturally supposed that an Irishman had the gift of saying the right thing at the right time, but this was a fallacy. #### SANITARY BOARD.

A meeting of the Sanitary Board was Tsz. held yesterday. There were present: Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe (President), Col. Irwin, Mr. F. B. L. Bowley, Dr. Fitzwilliams, Hon. Mr. W. Chatham (Vice-President), Hon. Mr. E. R. Halifax (Registrar General), Mr. Chan Kai Ming, Mr. Ng Hon Tsz, Dr. Clarke (Medical Officer of Health), Dr. Pearse (Assistant Medical Officer of Health), and Mr. M. J. Breen (Acting-Secretary).

THE DRAFT ESTIMATES.

The PRESIDENT submitted a minute regarding the suggested changes in the draft estimates for 1913. Under the head of personal emoluments, it is proposed to do away with one interpreter, as the office is no longer necessary, and to increase the number of Chinese foremen by one. This will result in a decrease in expenditure of $180 per annum. The office of a separate sexton at Cheung Leung Tim will also be abolished, resulting in a saving of $96 annually. The expenditure will be further cut down by the abolition of the office of Chinese foreman at Kowloon Disinfecting Station, for which the office of Chinese scavenging foreman at Shaukiwan will be substituted. This change will increase the expenditure by $60. The status of the coxswain of S.D. No. 1 is to be raised, and he is to be given an advance in salary of $60. The enlarged staff at the Kennedy Town slaughter house, brought about by the increasing work and enlargement of premises, will mean an additional vote of Works can tell us how much has been set $698 per year, and a further $1,540 will be required for the completion of the reconstruction of the old Western market, which rendered necessary the employment of an additional market overseer. For the foremen scavengers at the Central and new Western Markets an additional amount of $204 will be required, and an amount of $716 is also recommended for the payment of the ordinary scavengers. Under the head of other charges comes the item advertisements, for which an increased vote of $100 is recommended. It is proposed to construct a new bathhouse in Gough Street, at a cost of $270. The sum of $1,600 which has been set aside for damages for disinfection is not considered enough to cope with more than a mild epidemic, and to meet all emergencies a further sum of $200 has been asked for. Among the various amounts recommended in connection with incidental expenses is one of $300 in addition to the $1,000 for markets. The small amount refers to work in connection with the new Western Market. The latrine fan in Wanchai Gap has been discontinued, as it was found to be unnecessary, and a saving of $360 was thus effected. An amount of $300 has been allowed for the lighting of disinfecting stations and matsheds, but that amount was considered to be $200 short of the sum required. An increase of $800 is recommended on the vote of $1,000 in connection with the installation of electric light at the Western Market, and an additional sum of $212 on the original vote of $696 allowed for the lighting of Tsim Sha-tsui-Market has been asked for. An increase of $240 is recommended on the sum of $330 set apart for district sanitary offices. Extension of telephone installations wilresult in an advance of $29 on the original sum of $143. Included under the head of special expenditure is an amount of $1,000 for the installation of electric lighting at the Kowloon and Victoria bullock stables, and at the Eastern and Western districts office. The total also includes $600 for an additional water cart for Kowloon, and $250 for the purchase of an autoclave, for the fumigation of articles liable to be spoilt if passed through the disinfector. Under the head of personal emoluments and other charges, the increases recommended total $5,841, and the decreases $1,276, leaving a total increase of $4,565. There are a number of recommendations for inclusion under the estimate of Public Works Extraordinary, 1913. They include construction and renewal of latrines, and provision for further sums during the completion of works now in progress or contemplated, but not yet commenced. The President-Gentlemen, as you will have seen, this minute is rather a lengthy matter, and I would like to have the opinion of members as to whether we should discuss it to day, or whether further time should be allowed them to consider it. Of course, owing to pressure of work, it was impossible to supply members with individual copies until a fairly late date. I am afraid most of the members have not had time to digest the matter. It has been usual in past years to form a select committee to go into definite proposals and report to the Board. I don't tom, or whether you prefer that I should to-day give you an explanation of the various items a little more in detail.

Dr. FITZWILLIAMS-I propose that the usual course be taken that a select committee be appointed.

Mr. No Hon Tsz seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

The Select Committee appointed to ascertain whether their original recommendations in connection with the Pokfulam Reservoir Catchment area had been adequately carried out presented their report, which was of a satisfactory nature, and concluded:-"We are glad to note that active steps are being taken towards the construction of a low level reservoir at Tai Tam Tuk, which we are convinced is the best and only real solution of the Pokfulam Reservoir question. With an additional reservoir containing over 1,000,000,000 gallons of water, it will surely be possible to close Pokiulam Reservoir entirely."

The President—The report of the committee has been circulated. If you agree propose that it be adopted, and forworded for the consideration of the Gov-ing to know, though this has nothing to do with the report, how much has been set aside in the estimates for Tai Tam this year; and how much last year.

The President—There is a good deal of surveying work actually being done, though I do not think any contract has been made yet.

The motion that the report of the select committee be adopted and forwarded to the Government was seconded by Mr. Bowley and carried.

THE ORIENTAL VOTE IN HONOLULU.

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONGKONG DAILY PRESS."]

May 7th, 1912.

Daily Press of the 20th ult. on the Oriental Electorate in Hawaii" I beg to hand you herewith an article published on March 24th in the Pacific Commercial Advertiser of Honolulu entitled "Japanese Bug-A-Boo Decried."

This article is a series of interviews with some of the most prominent citizens of the Paradise of the Pacific, and the interview with Territorial Secretary Mott-Smith gives figures which show that there is no danger of the Oriental vote predominating in the Islands.

I might mention that the Territorial Government has representatives in Spain and Portugal recruiting labour and they have succeeded so well that a ship load of 1,500 immigrants arrives in the Islands about every three months. When these immigrants have lived in Hawaii long enough to become citizens they will more Oriental vote.

fault of Gov. Freer, as the U.S. Congress makes the laws regarding who shall become citizens of the United States.

The writer has lived in the Hawaiian Islands for the past 12 years, and I might mention that any person who has lived there for any length of time and has studied the political situation is not in the least bit alarmed of the Oriental voters controlling the politics of Hawaii or an invasion of Hawaii by the Japanese. Respectfully submitted,

Four all was now called, and Day again took the serve. His first ball was invariably declared a fault and his second being much weaker was punished by Nisbet, who got the game and the lead for the first time. A series of double faults by the civilian gave Day chances, and he ran off with the next two games, thus reversing the positions, the score being 6-5. Nisbet got his serve in again and walked off with a love game, thus bringing them level at six all. A stiff struggle was witnessed for the seventh game, Nisbet losing a point through having made a brilliant cross-court return which he thought beyond the reach of his opponent and not being in position to take the return. The game went to Day, but the next was secured by Nisbet after a fine rally, and the score stood 7-7. The third set looked as if the debacle were to continue, Nisbet losing the first two games through hitting out rather rashly and making two mistakes in the second set in not attempting to take shots which were within the line. In the third game the civilian got to 30.15 and led for the first time in nine games. He steadied to his work and his accurate placing gave him the verdict. Day, however, equalised, and when Nisbet had again secured the lead new balls were introduced. Nisbet's successful volleying managed to win the next game for him, giving him a lead of four to two. On the other hand, the increase of staff required to cope with the increased work, together with all the measures which became necessary in order to secure the maintenance of the telegraphic communications in China and the safety of the company's Danish and native staff, have necessitated considerable extra expenditure. As a matter of fact the net receipts for the year have decreased by about £24,000, compared with the year. 1910, but as this amount is not larger than was expected and a greater balance than usual was carried forward to 1911, the board of directors do not hesitate to propose the distribution of a total dividend and bonus of 18 per cent., including the 5 per cent. already paid, and to transfer to the reserve and pension funds the usual amounts of £55,555 and £11,111

GERMAN SHIPPING AND THE PANAMA CANAL.

A Berlin dispatch to a London paper dated April 12th says: Several directors of the North German Lloyd Line have gone to Panama and San-Francisco to study the possibilities of establishing a direct steamship service between Bremen and the Pacific coast on the day after the opening of the canal, linking all the Pacific ports with Germany, via Cherbourg and Southampton.

The Hamburg-American Line is also considering the advisability of establishing a similar service. It is posible that CLOCKS the two great German lines may come to an agreement in order to fight British competition in the new branch of Transatlantic trade. An agreement will shortly be concluded between the two German companies and the Cunard, White Star, and Compagnie Générale Transatlantique regarding the passenger services between New York and Europe.

It is intended to revise the sailing programmes so that a large passenger steamship will leave either Europe or New York every day in the week. It is also proposed to withdraw all the steamships built before 1892 from the fast Transatlantic service, and devote them to the emigrant

The North German Lloyd intends extending its emigrant service in the near future. A direct service will be established between Emden and New York. This company to-day placed a contract for the construction of another liner of the George Washington type, to be ready in two years.

THE JAPANESE ANTARCTIC TXPLORER.

Lieutenant Shirase, the Japanese antarctic explorer, is a passenger to Japan by the Nikko Maru. He was interviewed at Manila by a representative of the Manila Times, which gives the following summary of facts about the Japanese expedition" Lieutenant Shirase and his men did not attempt to reach the South Pole. They confined themselves to scientific work over great spaces of land lying to the west of the foute to the Pole taken by Amundsen. This land they have named Yamato, which was the ancient name of Japan. Valuable scientific and geographical observations were made, the details of which will appear in a book.

Lieutenant Shirase and his companion, Mr. Takata, go direct to Japan, while the remainder of the expedition of 27 will follow in their vessel, the Kainan.

MOTOR-SHIPS v. STEAMERS.

A COMPARISON OF THE COST.

The comparative cost of motor-ships and steamers, calculated on the basis of the new funnelless Selandia, is deduced in the "Motor Boat and Marine Oil and Gas Engine."

The following comparison is made be-tween the Selandia, and a large steam vessel of a well-known line:

Length 870 ft.
Beam 53 ft.
Depth 80 ft. Orose registered tonnage ...... 4900

Length .... 396 ft Beam Depth Gross registered tonnage ........ 4130

Displacement .... 10,650 Dead weight cap Displacement .... 9800 Dead weight cap. acity ...... 3250 tone Equipped weight ... 7400 tôte

CONSUMPTION OF PUEL. Turning now to the question of fuel: the coal consumption on the steamer is about forty tons per day and that of oil on the Sclandia about ten tons to twelve tons a day, bearing out the fairly generally accepted statement that the motor-ship only requires about a quarter the weight of fuel of the steamer. The practice with Selandia will be to take in 900 tons of oil at Bangkok for the round voyage, while the steamer under ordinary circumstances would take in about 600 tons of coal at Singapore and replenish her supply at various points on the voyage. Putting these figures side by side we obtain the following:—

DEAD WEIGHT FOR CARGO AT BANGKOK. Motor Ship. tons | Motor Ship. tons | D.W.C. ..... 7,400 | Less— Less— tons 600 Coal Water 30 Water Stores.

Steres 30 Total... 660 Total., 990 Dead weight for Dead weight for cargo ...... 6,410 cargo ...... 6,740

DEAD WEIGHT FOR CARGO AT ANTWERP. Motor Ship, tons Motor Ship, tons ...... 7,400 D.W.C. ...... 7,400 D.W.C. Less---Less - tons Coal 600 Water, 30 Water. 30 Stores. 30 Stores. 30 Ceal ... 30

Total... 540 Total 660 Dead weight for Dead weight for cargo ..... 6,860 cargo ... 6,740

The difference in dead-weight cargo capacity for the round voyage is therefore 210 tons in favour of the steamer, or, reckoning at £1 per ten net, a saving in favour of the steamer of £210. COST OF VOYAGE.

The next point to be considered is the cost of fuel on the voyage, excluding consumption in ports, allowing in each case seventy-five days' steaming for the round

Taking a consumption of 12 tons per day, the total is 900 tons, and, at the price of oil in Singapore, 35s. per ton, this works out at £1,575.

Taking the average cost of coal for the round voyage at 21s. per ton, which is the figure at which it works out, based on this year's contracts, when only 500 tons or so is carried, and at a consumption of 40 tons per day, we obtain a total consumption of 3,000 tons and cost of £3,150.

Moreover, the steamer, in coaling, will lose two days on the round voyage, which, reckoned by the owners at £46 a day, means a loss of £92. The saving in fuel alone in the case of the motor-boat

Now, turning to depreciation: three voyages a year may be assumed for each vessel, assuming seventy-five days' steaming and forty-six days in ports on each round voyage; that is, 121 days per voyage. The extra first cost of the Diesel ship may be taken at £15,000, and, assuming the depreciation to be the same on either steamer or motor ship, the latter, in the course of the year, reckoned at five per cent., depreciates £750 more than the steamer, i.e., £250 per voyage.

It is estimated by the steamship owners. that the watches in the engine-room of the motor boat would be approximately equal to the watches of the engine-room staff and firemen of the steamer, and on this assumption the following statement can be drawn up:-In favour of motor ship— Loss—showing a net gain for the motor-ship of £1,207 per voyage, or, on the assumption three voyages a year, £3,621 per annum .- Pall Mall Gazette.

In favour of motor ship. By dead we ght cap.

THE "SHELL" COMBINE AND THE ADMIRALTY.

Perhaps the most important development in connection with the oil industry during the year 1911 was the enormous increase in oil production which has come under the control of the Royal Dutch-Shell interests. For 1910 the production of the Royal Dutch-Shell subsidiaries was roughly 1,742,000 tons; for 1911 it was 2,518,000 tons, and at the present time the output is at the rate of 3,000,000 tons per annum, and it is still increasing. I is apparent, therefore, that the time is fast approaching, if it has not already arrived, when there will be no difficulty on the part of the Shell interests in guaranteering a big supply of oil fuel to the Admiraly on a virtually permanent basis. Consequently there is probably very reliable foundation for the rumour, current in well-informed circles, that an announcement will soon be made by the "Shell" Transport and Trading Company to the effect that it has entered into an agreement with the British Admiralty. There are rumours that negotiations have been resumed for the introduction of Royal Dutch shares in Paris. This would be very important for the Royal Dutchshares Combine, inasmuch as it would enable this group to cover its future requirements in three big markets—Paris. Amsterdam, and London-instead of two. as in the past.
